SHOOTING NEAR CAMPBELLVILLE.

Town Marshal, Luther Taylor, Seriously Shot. Andrew Davis, of Color, Killed.

And Another Negro Wounded—Shot Twice.

THE AFFAIR CREATES GREAT EXCITEMENT.

Saturday night about 10 o'clock Chief of Police Luther Taylor, of Campbellville, received a telephone message from the Chief of Police, of Louisville, Sebastian Gunther, asking him to meet the train at Campbellville and arrest one Lee Davis, colored, charged with stealing $1,300 in gold from a party in Louisville. Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock, Marshal Taylor and Deputy Coroner Jones left for Davis' home, four miles South of Campbellville. En route they met Davis' mother, and learned from her that her son, Andrew, returned from Louisville the night previous and had some gold money in his possession. Upon reaching the house, they found Andrew Davis and four other negroes, two of whom were his brothers. The officers called Andrew to one side and ordered him to give up the money. The negro acted as though he was going to comply, putting his hand in his pocket; then he withdrew it and told Marshal Taylor to take it from his pocket. Taylor was in the act of doing so, when he was shot by one of the negroes—believed to have been Andrew—the ball entering the left side just above the hip, ranging up upward and coming out on the right side one inch higher. The officers then began firing at Andrew. Deputy Coroner, Jones shooting him in the leg, and Marshal Taylor shooting him in the head, killing him instantly. About this time another negro started to run, and Jones, and the latter secured him to halt, instead of doing so he started off on a run, Jones shooting him in the side and elbow. After the shooting, Deputy Coroner Jones ordered the two remaining negroes to bring up the dead man—Andrew, who had fallen on the doorstep. They refused until he threatened to shoot them. When the body was searched, $800 in gold was found. Late Sunday night, Coroner Collins went to the scene of the trouble and found $241 more on the body of the dead negro.

Marshal Taylor was at first thought to be mortally wounded, but it has developed that no vital parts were struck, and he will probably recover.

RUSSELL COUNTY KILLING.

On Saturday night the 7th inst., while under the influence of liquor, Leve B. Gosser shot and killed Campbell Hanaford in Russell county. It is our understanding that the parties were brothers-in-law and that they had been together during the whole of Saturday, separating about dark. Near midnight Gosser went to Hanaford's home and soon after getting there the two commenced cooking eggs, but before they were ready for use a quarrel arose, Gosser drawing his revolver, shooting Hanaford.

Gosser was given an examining trial at Jamestown last week and was held over in the sum. of $750. It is said that the dead man was duly sober.

SENT FOR LIFE.

James Shipp, who murdered Jo Smith, in Campbellville, several months ago, was tried in the Taylor Circuit Court last week, the Jury being composed of Adair county men. The State made a strong case against the accused, the Jury being out only twenty-five minutes, returning a verdict of life time in the penitentiary. An effort was made upon the part of the defense to prove that Smith had been too intimate with Shipp's wife, but it failed, many good citizens testifying that Mrs. Shipp was a lady of excellent character. It was a terrible murder, and many believed that the accused would receive the death penalty.

Home Coming day for Adair county Tuesday June 19.

A very creditable statement of the condition of the First National Bank, Columbia, Ky., appears in this issue of the News.

Mr. E. O. Turner, of Cane Valley, who was so badly mangled by a pair of mules in Ill., last winter, was able to be in town last Saturday. Both his legs were broken in three different places but he will finally regain good use of them.

Adair county farmers have been very busy for the past ten days, hence business in Columbia has been a little dull. The merchants, however, are making no kick, but are really glad that the favorable weather has given their country cousins an opportunity to turn over a good deal of ground. Corn planting will commence this week if the weather continues fair.

The boys of the Columbia Brass Band want to thank Mr. W. R. Myers for a nice treat of apples on Monday night.

Fishing was very good last Thursday. Mr. J. B. Barbee caught an eighteen inch perch and several red eyes.

Mr. A. D. Coffey has removed his family from over his grocery store to the Sallee property, near the Hancock Hotel.

It is estimated that there will be ten thousand people in Columbia, June 19, the Home Coming Day. The meeting will be at the Fair Grounds.

The attention of our readers is called to the announcement of Mr. W. L. Walker in today's paper. He has a very attractive stock of sporting and summer goods.

IN RESTRAINT OF TRUSTS.

It is highly interesting information that the President is preparing a special message recommending legislation in restraint of trusts. Not because this Congress is likely to enact any measure that will have the desired effect. The trusts are too firmly entrenched in Congress to justify the belief that any legislation that will be adequate will be able to run the gauntlet. But the mere recommendation will apparently be a confession that the campaign against the trusts, of which we have heard so much, has proved a failure. The decision of Judge Humphrey is cited as a reason for more legislation. But the decision of Judge Humphrey was based on a clause of the Constitution, and no legislation can repeal that. Another clause in the Constitution prevents, so it is said, an appeal from the Chicago decision. If this is true, no sort of law can remedy this trouble, though, doubtless, a law might be made to enable the Supreme Court to pass on the law, without subjecting parties to a new trial. But is it really necessary that this be done?

The packers and others who have been violating the anti-trust law may have obtained immunity for all past offenses. That at least seems to be the official view, and it is likely to prevail. But does anybody suppose that these offenders intend to respect in future the law which they have so long violated with impunity? If they do, the country might well agree to let bygones be bygones, especially as no export-factlaw can be passed. If, however, they do not obey the law hereafter, it will be possible to get other indictments, not based upon testimony obtained by the Bureau of Corporations. This can be done without any new legislation.

No doubt it would be well for the country to get a better anti-trust law. But there is no prospect that such a law can be had speedily. It is better, therefore, that the Department of Justice should look to the enforcement of existing law than to mislead the public into the belief that some proposed legislation will make the convictions of trusts easier. That legislation will only be possible when we get a Congress that does not belong to the trusts.—Courier Journal.

MIKE'S RISE IN THE WORLD.

Mike Reddy was a railroad man at Boise, Idaho, well known and well liked by everybody. One night Mike fell beneath a train and had both legs cut off.

He was taken to the hospital and recovered in a course of time. His accident cost him his savings as well as his legs, and after he got around again his friends subscribed several hundred dollars and sent Mike to Chicago to get two cork substitutes.

He came back in a month or two, walking spryly, but he didn't seem to be the same old Mike. People looked at him as he crept down the street and wondered. Finally, a committee of his friends asked him about it. "Mike," they said, "what did they do to you up there in Chicago besides making you a pair of legs?"

"Nothing that I know of," Mike replied.

"Yes, they did. You look different than when you went away. What was it?"

"Oh," said Mike, grinning, "I know what you mean. I was always a short feller with my own legs, and when the man was making the cork ones I just told him to make them four inches longer than the old ones were, so I could get up in the world a bit."

[Saturday] Evening Post.

AN OLD TRAGEDY RECALLED.

The following from the Hustonville correspondent to the Danville Advocate will interest many of our readers over in Casey, and along the boundary line: There died a few days ago on the Rolling Fork, in Casey, an aged man, Thos. J. Evans, 94, whose death recalls one of the fiercest and bloodiest tragedies ever witnessed on the streets of Liberty. On that day Bell and Magoffin, candidates for Governor, had an appointment to speak in the town. This was in the Spring or early Summer of 1860. The voting population of the county assembled as well as great numbers from this county, among them Bill Owsley, who had moved to a fine farm near here a few years previous from Lancaster. Owsley was a bad man in liquor and would fight his weight in wild cats when insulted. On this day red liquor was much in evidence in Casey's Capital. A difficulty sprang up between Owsley and Granville Johnson which ended by Owsley drawing his trusty Colts and killing him in his tracks. Evans, the subject of this sketch, and a brother-in-law of Johnson, sprang at Owsley with a knife and he was shot down; one hip broken. Pandemonium reigned after this shot. Val and Tuck Peyton, neighbors and kinsmen of Evans and Johnson, then engaged Owsley, who shot at every one who menaced him. Tuck Peyton was soon disabled, but Val, a man of courage and wonderful physique, went at Owsley with a barlow knife, his only weapon. It only required a few minutes for him to finish the fight. Owsley was literally hacked to pieces and was carried into a room of the Napier Hotel, where he lay for weeks before he could be brought home. In due time Evans recovered, entered the Union Army under Col. Wolford, was severely wounded and was discharged. Tuck Peyton likewise joined the same command, was shot in the neck at the battle of Mill Springs early in the war, was brought home paralyzed, but lived about forty years afterwards a mental and physical wreck. During all these years he drew a pension of seventy-five dollars per month. Owsley sold his farm near here, moved back to Lancaster and afterwards entered the Confederate army, dying soon after the close of the war.

or boy, man or woman, is quickly out of pain if Bucklen's Arnica Salve is applied promptly. C. J. Welch, of Tekonsha, Mich., says: "I use it in my family for cuts, sores and all skin injuries, and find it perfect." Quickest File cure known. Best healing salve made. 25c at T. Paul's drug store.

The inordinate love of the dollar too often makes men unpatriotic and disloyal to the town and community in which they live. To save a little they will send away from home for supplies, refuse a dollar toward public improvements in their own town, belittle and degrade home enterprise and yet be the first to advance the price of their property as a result of the patient, self-sacrificing work of others. Loyalty to your own town is just as commendable a type of patriotism as one can find and, no matter how much your patriotism boils over on Fourth of July in a general way, if you are disloyal in little things to your own town you are a poor citizen of the republic. You are like him who makes long prayers in the church and jabs his wife and neglects his children at home.

Magistrate Owsley, of Graves county, said to have performed a marriage ceremony in just one minute and beat the record of Judge Crossland one-half minute.

SELECT YOUR SEED CORN NOW.

F. B. Mumford, of the Missouri Agricultural College calls attention to the fact that farmers might with greater profit select seed corn before spring work begins. Numerous investigations, he says, have shown that in the average year, a Missouri corn field has seventy-five per cent of a stand. That is to say, the Missouri farmer will plant and cultivate 100 acres of corn and harvest 75. The cause of this is poor seed. He offers this simple method of testing seed corn: Put several old newspapers in the bottom of a box and wet them. Then spread a white cloth with checker-board squares on top of the paper, each square being numbered. Now number the ears to correspond with the squares. Take three grains from each ear and place them on the cloth in the square bearing the same number as the ear. Put another cloth on top of the grains and place the box in a warm place. In four or five days they will have sprouted. Now start with ear one. If all three of the grains from that ear have sprouted vigorously, it will do for seed, but if the grains fail to germinate or show weak and spindling sprouts, throw the ear aside, and so on for every ear. In this way, almost a perfect stand can be secured which means a much larger yield per acre.

THE WINTER AND PRICES.

As the winter has been very mild there has been more than the average supply of eggs on the market, those contemplating a "corner," with high prices, being compelled to sell at a sacrifice, the hens breaking the "corner" unexpectedly. Those who were fortunate in having good, well-cared-for stock have not been disappointed in their expectations. The winter had its influence on poultry as well as on everything else, but the poultrymen no doubt have come out successfully. Prices will continue up to the average, for those who wish to have that which they desire in the poultry line will buy it at all times, and while the chickens and eggs are as good as cash money, the farmers who keep their hens in laying condition will fully realize all their expectations. Pure-bred fowls will pay at all seasons of the year, and there is no reason why farmers should continue to breed only the common kinds.

At a recent public sale of horses in New York twenty-three head of Kentucky saddle horses brought the aggregate sum of $13,080, an average of $568. This shows unmistakably that the influence of the American Saddle Horse Breeders' Association is being felt in the East where a few years ago the foreign idea as to mounts seemed to prevail. The American Association has offered a prize of a $100 silver cup to be awarded to the best three-gaited saddle horse of Durland's to which entries closed March 31st. A good number are entered and show will prove to be a feature of this great show. It will show also that the five-gaited horse cannot be excelled in the three-gaited class. We are glad to learn that entries to the Register of the American Saddle Horse Association are on the increase.—Farmers Home Journal.

DAYLIGHT POLITICS.

Everything done by the Swiss government is done out in the daylight; they can know all about it if they wish. And the government makes sure that if it practices no hugger-mugger itself it allows no one else to practice hugger-mugger either. Its hand is upon every corporation, big or little, public or private, that transacts a dollar's worth of business in Switzerland. Every Swiss corporation must publish at regular intervals in each year a detailed and exact statement of its condition, the amount of business it has transacted, its profits and the disposition thereof—all in plain black and white. The penalties for juggling with the figures are such that the corporations do not dare to lie; for in Switzerland no distinctions are drawn between corporation rascality and individual rascality, and the officers are held personally responsible for the corporation's acts. The government provides an official periodical for these reports; no stock company can escape its columns. Moreover, a corporation in Switzerland has no chance to play tricks on its stockholders. Every Swiss corporation must at any time demand to see the books or know anything they wish to know about the concern. If a corporation should refuse the information, the stockholders would go into court and the court would in an hour have the whole thing into the sunlight and some of its officers on the road to jail. In Switzerland they know what corporations are and take no chances. They say they have no intention of being throttled by that particular constrictor, anyway.—Everybody's.

DEMOCRATIC PROSPECTS.

Even among the Republicans in Washington there is very general expectation that the House of Representative to be chosen this Fall will have a Democratic majority.

And, indeed, there is every reason why it should be so. The Republican majority in the House, like the Republican party in the nation, is fatally divided on almost all public questions. Tariff revision, the Philippine tariff, the Statehood bill, the rate bill, canal legislation, have all developed active bodies of Republican insurgents in the House. True, the iron hand of Speaker Cannon crushed out all effective opposition by the sore by this drastic treatment.

The insurance investigations have hurt the Republican party. That the companies have been turning over enormous amounts of their stockholders' money to political cronies like Platt and Cortelyou irritated the people and will affect their votes. The intimate alliance between the Republican machine and the practitioners of frenzied finance, long suspected, is now a matter of legal proof. The restiveness of organized labor under the cold indifference shown to its demands by the President and Congress is another element of danger to the Republicans.—Elizabethtown News.

A DOUBTFUL PAUSE.

Mr. Dowie has lost the advantage to be gained by sudden and bold assault on his enemies. Whether his pause for consultation with his attorneys will result in a legal equipment that will, in the end, compass his purpose is a question that must be left to results to answer. Dowie's chief strength has consisted heretofore of his audacity and his power to hypnotize his followers en masse, as well as to deceive their minor leaders, by means of his persuasive speech and personal magnetism. He has already lost his grip on his former lieutenants and the struggle is now one between him and the herd which yields to the stronger will. Apparently the larger opportunity for Dowie's success lay in the speed and determination with which he confronted the leaders of the opposition, and his ability again to impress his followers with the superior strength of his individuality. In abandoning this course for one of consultation Dowie has surrendered the advantage of compelling his enemies to fight him on his own terms. His pause just outside the gates of Zion may be the part of wisdom, but has too much the appearance of lack of confidence in himself and his cause to inspire men who have been accustomed to follow him blindfolded with the belief that he is still unquestionably in command of the situation.—Louisville Times.

GEN. WHEELER'S FAREWELL ADDRESS.

Gen. Joe Wheeler's farewell address to the mounted men of his command was delivered April 20th, 1865.

He spoke as follows:

"You have fought your battles and your task is done. During a four years' struggle for liberty you have exhibited courage, fortitude and devotion; you are the sole victors of more than a thousand successful conflicts of arms; you are heroes, veterans, patriots; the bones of your comrades mark battlefields upon the soil of Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi. You have done all that human exertion could accomplish. In bidding you adieu I desire to tender my thanks for your gallantry in battle, your fortitude under suffering and your devotion at all times to the holy cause you have done so much to maintain.

"I desire also to express my gratitude for the kind feeling you have seen fit to extend toward myself and to invoke upon you the blessings of our Heavenly Father to whom we must always look for support in the hour of distress.

"Brethren, in the cause of freedom, comrades in arms, I bid you farewell."

HID IN A COFFIN.

Riding in a coffin prepared for the corpse of a woman, George Woods, a negro, accused of assaulting Virgil Short, in Danville, escaped under the very noses of the police. After the assault he was chased by officers and citizens to the undertaking establishment of his brother, and up to that time was always in sight, but there all traces of him were lost. A coffin was being prepared to bury an old negro woman from the place of Mr. Charles P. Cecil, and the fact that the negro was lost at the establishment, together with the fact that a negro, answering his description was seen walking with the hearse bearing the coffin, about three miles from Danville, indicates that the negro was in the coffin when the search was made for him, and that he afterward was released by confederates and continued on his way toward Perryville, where the burial was to take place, with some members of the funeral party. It is alleged that the negro struck Short with little or no provocation. Two severe blows were struck, one on the forehead and the other behind the ear. Though seriously injured, young Short will probably get well.

WANTED FURTHER ORDERS.

Senator Tillman was accusing a political leader of overbearing, arbitrary methods.

"He goes too far," said the Senator. "He is like the militia. Captain they used to have in Concord."

"This man came to Concord with a war record, and got a Captain's appointment in the militia."

"He was a martinet. The first day he reviewed his company he examined every hair on their heads, every button on their coats. It was an ordeal for them."

"On the whole, the Captain was pleased with his inspection. One thing dissatisfied him, though. His men all had clean-shaven upper lips. Some had side whiskers, some had mutton-chops, some had goatees, some had patriotic chin beards. There was not one who had a mustache."

"The Captain complimented his company in a short speech, and concluded by saying: 'Only one thing is lacking to make a crack, martial-looking company of you—mustaches. I want every man Jack of you to raise a mustache.'"

"At this order the men looked at one another, and a young farmer, stepping out from the ranks, saluted and said: 'What color will you have them, sir?' [Milwaukee Sentinel.]

Calves are not going to be worth the prices they have been fetching, says the Breeders' Gazette. Already the market has dropped fully $1 per cwt. and the real decline has not begun. When it happens it will look as though everything has been lubricated for the occasion. Veal has been the highest priced meat on the list for months, but buyers are now looking for opportunities that cannot be very remote. Already the advance guard of the spring calf crop from the immense dairy districts contiguous to Chicago has made its appearance and knocked prices from their high pedestal. Milk is high and dairymen are not going to feed it to calves, but the policy of shipping light, 100 pound calves to the stock yards is a poor one, as they are hard to sell at any price and are frequently condemned. This calf crop is evidently destined to be hurried to the shambles as rapidly as that of last year.

It appears that Dr. W. Godfrey Hunter is not the only pebble on the political beach when it comes to a showdown in civil service investigations instituted at Washington. Collector Craft's office is to have an airing, and perhaps there are others that commenced the wholesale violation of the civil service laws against the collection of campaign funds from revenue employees in the balmy days of the Boring ring and continued by their successors. Kentucky is a fruitful field for those troublesome investigations and the eleventh district is a hotbed of vote buying and vote selling in primaries and conventions of the dominant party.—Somerset Journal.

Nervous School Children.

Statistics gathered by various School Boards, show that a large percentage of school children suffer from different forms of nervousness, mild or exaggerated. Some showed a tendency to melancholy, other mental depression, and many the nervous twitches of mild chorea, or St. Vitus' dance. Most of these troubles can be overcome by proper food, sufficient sleep, and Dr. Caldwell's (Laxative) Syrup Pepsin. It is a universal children's medicine, because, if good food is eaten, it insures that the food is properly digested and indigestion and nerve poisons properly eliminated. It is pleasant to take, and safe and sure in results. Try it. Sold by Dr. J. N. Page, Columbia, Ky., and Page & Moore, Cave Valley, Ky., at 50c and $1.00. Money back if it fails.

CHAS. S. HARRIS, Editor.

Democratic newspaper devoted to the interests of the city of Columbia and the people of Adair and adjacent counties.

Entered at the Columbia Postoffice as second class mail matter.

WED., APRIL 18, 1906.

We have been informed that the town council does not contemplate the testing of the rock crusher until next Fall, believing it to be to the best interest of the town to postpone action until the busy season has passed. Whether or not this is the wise thing to do is not for us to say but, to the industrious, the busy season lasts twelve months and will doubtless be as hard to get desirable help in the fall as at present. We are inclined to believe that the bulk of the work should be done in the Fall months and know that the council can exhaust its resources for making streets within a month or so of real activity, but there is more hinging on the starting and testing of the crusher than in ordinary cases. The county has laid the foundation for a better system of road-making, but at present has not yet agreed on plans. The belief that a rock crusher can be used to great advantage has a deep hold on the Fiscal court, but before it invests any money in such machinery, desires to see one thoroughly tested. Aware of the action of the town council in its purchase, the court appointed a committee to witness its operation before determining its plan of action. It is likely that inaction in the town may produce inaction in the county and thus block and cripple the most progressive move yet undertaken by our county. The town is interested in the county roads and in our judgment could well afford to put the crusher to a test, at an early day, if for no other purpose than to stimulate the making of roads without her borders. A test of three or four days would be sufficient and would enable the Magistrates to outline their plans of making roads. If the machine will do what it is represented to do, it will well serve both town and county and in that event we trust and believe co-operation between the two would set up and the interests of both be bettered in a division of expenses. The county can not well afford to wait until next Fall before beginning its work. To begin this Spring and induce rivalry between the various neighborhoods and secure the help necessary from the citizens several miles of good pipe road could be built before the time for husking corn or sowing wheat. Gentlemen of the council, why not secure a quarry, set the crusher, invite the committee and all public spirited citizens to witness a run of two or three days and thus demonstrate the worth of the machine or prove it a failure. There is not a doubt as to securing help for such a test and there is not a doubt as to its far reaching effect on our county. Postponement is dangerous and we trust, as truly as other advocates of good roads, that immediate action and a thorough test of the crusher will be made in a short time.

Jordan Peacock---The Greatest Horse

In Kentucky

JORDAN PEACOCK will make the present season at Gradyville, Kentucky, and will serve mares at $15 to insure a living colt one week old. If any mare should loose a colt by carelessness or rough treatment then the season is due. Jordan Peacock has sired more high priced colts than any horse in Kentucky. Cotton and mules have their ups and downs but The Peacocks are Always Up—The Horse Buyers are always Looking for Peacocks, and pay from two to three times as much for them as they do any others. Last Fall his Suckling Colts Sold from $100.00 to $135.00; Flowers Bros. sold a 2-year-old mare for $325; a 4-year-old gelding sold March 8, in a pair for $825.00. Did you ever know of any other horses in this part of the State that sold for such prices? When you breed to Jordan you are going to get a good Colt and one that's ready money as soon as it hits the ground. There have been some men that have sold their colts as soon as they bred the mares. Now if you want to raise the best, bring your mares to Jordan Peacock.

CAPTAIN PEACOCK, A 3-YEAR-OLD STALLION

By Jordan Peacock and Dam by Colonel Tom, will make the season for $10 to insure. Captain Peacock is the best prospect I have ever seen. Bring your mares to my Horses and you are sure to get a colt and a good one.

The discourse of the Rev. A. R. Kasey on "Civic Righteousness" at the Methodist church Sunday evening was one of the most powerful arguments upon the subject that the writer has had the pleasure of listening to for many years. His subject, "Theodore Roosevelt a Citizen" was one of the most appropriate that could have been selected for the occasion, and the mastery way in which the character and life of this great American man was illustrated by Rev. Kasey indicated that he is an admirer of strong and strenuous men who have sufficient will power and strength to carry out their honest conviction at all times. Besides being an intellectual feast to the older ones in the congregation, it was inspiration to the young men of the community—to pattern and to shape their future lives after that grand and illustrious man—the head of our nation—Theodore Roosevelt.

RECITAL.

Misses Mary Williams and Mae Duncan Entertain a Large Audience.

The Reading at the Lindsay-Wilson Friday evening was quite a success from every standpoint. The audience was a very interested and responsive one, and showed their appreciation of the real worth of the exercises.

The young ladies never appeared to a better advantage.

Miss Williams has recited several times to a Columbia audience, and always with grace and ease. Every one of her numbers were good. The natural and simple way in which she told Riley's "Bear Story" brought much applause. In the "Tragedy of Sedan," she showed a fineness of conception wonderful for her years. "Sleep," by Elizabeth Barrett Browning, was soft and beautiful, showing good control of her voice. Miss Mae Duncan played very sweetly a musical accompaniment for her, which made it all the more enjoyable. In her negro sermon, she impersonated finely the preaching of a colored brother. In pathos, tragedy, humor and all other styles Miss Williams is an artist, showing splendid expression and talent, which has been well developed under her training by Miss Duncan.

No less of an artist is Miss Mae Duncan, whose advancement in music is something wonderful. This being only the second term she has studied it reflects great credit on her teacher, Miss Penland. She played with a delicacy of touch and depth of expression seldom heard in a young pupil.

The "Bear Dance" by Chamisso, and Canonetta, by V. Hollander were interpreted with much feeling and expression. Her touch is remarkably sweet and was noticeably so in Schumann's "Shimmer Song," which was handled in a masterly manner, and the audience showed their appreciation of it by a hearty applause. Followed by Chopin, the last number, was a brilliant close to a program artistically rendered. Miss Duncan displayed wonderful talent and her friends are justly proud of her.

SOME KENTUCKY MEN.

It has been the habit of some writers to boast of Kentucky's fine whisky, fast horses and beautiful women. In a recent letter Savoyard takes the Kentucky men of yore times as his theme, and of their achievements says:

"Kentuckians, under George Rogers Clark, moved the boundary of the United States from the Ohio River to the great Lakes. 'It was a Kentucky statesman—John Breckinridge—who was the real author of the Louisiana purchase."

"Kentucky made the war of 1812, and did more than her share of the fighting of it."

"Kentucky was the first state to establish common schools and support them by a tax on all the property of the state."

"Kentucky secured the free navigation of the Mississippi river. Kentucky gave more soldiers to the Texas revolution than any other State."

"The first steamboat ever launched in the world was the work of a Kentuckian—John Fitch."

"Audubon lived in Kentucky; so did Alexander Campbell."

"Joel T. Hart was a Kentuckian, as well as America's greatest sculptor. Jewett was a Kentuckian, as well as America's greatest portrait painter."

"Thomas F. Marshall and Richard Menefee were Kentuckians as well as the finest orators of a generation of orators."

"George Robertson, a Kentucky jurist, gave more suggestions to judiciary at Westminster, than any other American judge."

"Ephraim McDowell, a Kentucky surgeon, performed the first successful operation for ovariectomy."

"Dr. Brasher, of Kentucky, performed the first successful hip-joint operation. These two feats astonished the medical colleges of Edinburgh, Paris and Berlin."

"Bishop Baceman, a Kentuckian, was the greatest pulpit orator our country has produced."

"Robert J. Breckenridge was the leading Presbyterian clergyman of two generations."

"John J. Broadbuss was the most erudite Hebrew scholar of all America."

"Spalding's history of the Catholic church stamps him as the equal of any American who has written history."

"There are more churches and more church members in Kentucky, according to population, than in any other state, and fewer suits for seduction, slander and libel."

"Kentucky contributed Lincoln to the North and gave Davis to the South. She was on both sides of that war and is proud of it, though a little prouder of the rebel side than the other."

No Quarter.
The evils which always follow after indigestion, biliousness or constipation will give no quarter. Better fight them to a finish with Dr. Caldwell's (laxative) Syrup Pepsin. It is a weapon against these dangerous diseases, which will give you quick relief and permanent cure. Sold by Dr. J. M. Page, Columbia, Ky., or Page & Moore, Cane Valley, Ky., at 50c and $1.00. Money back if it fails.

You may talk as much as you please about the country people being "greenhorns, Rubes and easy marks for the gold brick man," but in the cities you find the real, all-wood-yard-wise fools. Where do you find the spiritualist, the christian scientist, the anarchist and the believer in all kinds of nonsense? In the cities. Where do you find rugged honesty; manhood, patriotism, virtue and love of home? In the country. Man makes the cities, but God makes the country.

SAVOY, TEX.

As some one is sending papa the Adair County News I thought I would write to the paper, as it is from my old home. We have been in Texas 3 years. I like it all O. K. for farming, for it is best for laboring people.

Texas is much leveler and prettier than Kentucky. It sure was a show to me to see people picking cotton and their long sacks trailing behind them.

There was a light crop of cotton raised in Fannin county last year on account of the boll worm, but fine corn, wheat and oats crop.

We live about four miles from Red river—the dividing line between Texas and Indian Territory. It is a fine place for fishing and hunting.

I found the people kind and accommodating here, as they are everywhere; they seem like good old Kentucky friends. What are you school mates doing? I often think of the fine times we had at Sparksville. I would enjoy being there awhile with you all.

BESSIE MORRISON.

Miscellaneous Conditions.

Of body and mind, always result from a torpid liver, which leads to bile poisons being absorbed into the blood, and poisoning all the nerves and tissues. This dreadful state, some of the symptoms of which are headache, bitter taste, nausea, lack of appetite, yellow complexion, constipation, etc., can be quickly cured by taking Dr. Caldwell's (Laxative) Syrup Pepsin. It relieves the strain on your liver, relaxes the tightened bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the stomach, and makes it as clean as a whistle. The result is perfect health, and freedom from pain and discomfort. Try it. Sold by Dr. J. N. Page, Columbia, Ky., and Page & Moore, Cane Valley, Ky., at 50c and $1.00. Money back if it fails.

BRAIN LEAKS.

God leaks at the heart, not at the hand.

It takes something more than lung power to make prayer effective.

The trouble with a lot of reformers is that they begin too far away from home.

When a man or woman has learned the art of doing without, the rest is comparatively easy.

The world owes every man a living, but it takes a hustling bill collector to get what is coming to him.

It is easy to build up a reputation for philanthropy by giving away money that came without exertion.

There is a vast difference between contentment and satisfaction. The happy man is the one contented with his lot.

A whole lot of men are political reformers every day in the year but three—primary day, convention day and election day.

When the wife and daughter are getting ready for the latter's wedding the father and husband realizes what it is to be insignificant.

There are a lot of people who are talking about the good they would like to do, and fondly imagining that the talking is as good as the doing.

In the Bible you will find these words: "There is no God." But just before them you will find these words: "The fool saith in his heart, there is no God."

John did not state what he was doing but we take it that he is teaching or preaching. Success to the young men.

W. C. Yates, one of Russell Creek's best farmers, was in our midst one day last week and related to your reporter his experience in making burley tobacco. He and his partner, Mr. Compton made a very good average crop for that section, as it is known that corn grows better than tobacco in some sections if it is not cultivated. Mr. Yates says their time was not fully employed but the larger portion was put in on the tobacco. Mr. J. F. Pendleton, the well-known tobacco man of this section, purchased this crop and the net proceeds was $8. Mr. Yates says he felt as though he was under great obligations to Mr. Pendleton from the fact that a short time since the latter gentleman bought a lot of hogs from him. Not being convenient to scales they guessed at the weight. A short time afterward Mr. Pendleton informed him that this lot of hogs cost only nine cents per pound.

Our community was shocked when the news spread last Sunday morning that A. C. Hansford had been shot and killed by Levi Gosser, his brother-in-law. The killing occurred between 12 and 1 o'clock Sunday morning, and no one seems to know just exactly the cause, except that Gosser was drunk and had been drinking the day before. Hansford was half brother to Gosser's wife, and is about thirty years old, and well educated. His health was very bad, and he only had one leg. He was a quiet, unassuming young man. Gosser bears an unenviable reputation.

as the many difficulties he has had shows. He was allowed bond in $750. This is only another evidence that where whisky is peddled, there will be trouble and boot-legging. Surely our officers will look after it now. If not, the people must, or peaceable citizens will have to move out and let them have sway.
